PROVES A SUCCESS IN GEORGETOWN

Sub-Depositories Are Well Patronized on Very First Day.

Georgetown's postal savings bank "sub-depositories" are an unqualified Two hundred people, visited each of the two drug stores, where cards and stamps are on sale, after the exclusive announcement in The Times yesterday afternoon, that Georgetown had the first sub-depositories of the kind in the United States.

The ink was hardly dry on the first papers, when inquirers came into the store of Dr. Charles Scherer, at Wisconsin avenue and N street, and into that of Dr. William Scherer, at Thirty-fifth and O streets, either to gain information, or to start their savings account "Uncle Sam." Until closing time at ten o'clock there was a steady stream of depositors and intending de-

Acting Postmaster Robinson is greatly interested in the success of the movement started by Dr. William Scherer to place postal savings cards and stamps where they are available for the people who wish to deposit in the postal savings bank. There is but little doubt that the Washington merchants will fall in line and take up the idea. Mr. Rebinson stands ready to aid anyone in getting the cards and stamps out.

Thinks Idea Is Good.

In talking of the movement today he said: "The idea is a fine one. These stamps should be available in the drug stores, just as are ordinary stamps. It is a matter not only of public conventence, but of an aid by the store proprietor to his patrons."

Dr. Scherer is enthusiastic over the movement, and is doing missionary work to have it taken up in other cifies. His efforts, already represent a total of $20 worth of dimes deposited in the postal bank, by persons who in the postal bank, by persons who heretofore were not patrons.

Deposits of any desired sum can be made through the Georgetown sub-depositories. While they were opened primarily with the idea of aiding the children, and the people who wished to save a dime at a time, other depositors who can not go to the city posteffice can purchase cards and stamps in any quantity they wish, For instance, five full cards, can be mailed in as a $5 deposit.

The postal savings bank, like most other banks, does not open an account for less than a dollar, and it takes a card and nine stamps to draw a certificte, but each dime paid for a card or stamp, is just as much on deposit with

Advantages of Plan.

Georgetown depositors, who make their deposits through either of the Scherer stores, can always withdraw their money at the store, without coming down town to get it back. In other words, the Georgetown sub-depositories are just like a regular bank, except that you den't have to be identified, and give your signature and hob-nob can withdraw any amount at any time, by merely presenting the stamps, and cards for the amount desired.

All dollar deposits and over, draw interest from the Government at the rate of 2 per cent per annum, and every July 1, and January 1, depositors in the bank, can convert their savings into gili-edged Government bonds, either registered or coupon, that pay 2½ per cent interest Every holder of a registered bond will get a check from the United States Treasury July 1 and January 1, for the amount of interest due.

New One at the Zoo, and Now There's a Chance For That Five Hundred Thousand in the Year Nineteen Fifteen.

That should be the boosters' battle cry. And a half million population four years hence is not an impossible goal. No, indeed. There's every reason to believe it can be reached, because the city has just gained possession of a big population booster.

A brand new, energetic stork has taken up her abode in the National She came all the way from Buenos Ayres, and has been welcomed to the Zoological Park with a fine new

But at that the new stork is to help the work that has been carried on by the old stork residents. Some of the have grown old in the service. so old in fact that they are no longer welcomed in many Washington homes. One of the storks has an old and tattered garb. The new one with her perfect gown of black and white feathers presents a striking contrast. She struts around proudly, but those horrid gossips at the Zoo are already opining that she would not make a sensation as a ballet dncer. Some have gone so far lest addition to the animal kingdom is a as to say she would not even look good llama. That was born a week ago.

Five hundred thousand for Washing-, in a hobble. But this is not a place to discuss physical charms. When the stock arrived in Washing ton, thereby terminating her long voyage by land and sea, she was registered on the books of the park as Magauer Stork. And now, regardless of the fact she has been here only a few days, she has aroused jealousy. In their snippy way her enemies have dubbed her "Maggy" stork. Why can't they pronounce it Margaret? It sounds so much more genteel. Since arriving in this fair city of ours. with its wonderful boulevards and possible universal transfers for the street car patrons, Miss Maggy Stork has been resting up, according to Superintendent Blackburn.

"The entire consignment of animals and birds from South America is now in good shape," said Keeper Blackburn. "Since their arrival here most of the time has been spent in resting, for it was a hard trip."

Preparations are being made for the winter, though not many changes are required at the Zoo. The beasts that are not rugged enough to stand the outdoor life during the winter are nearly all provided with houses, adjoining their cages. These they can enter or leave at will. The tropical birds will be taken from the big flying cages and placed in the warm cages. It has not been necessary to change them yet. "The entire consignment of animals

The arrest of the president, attorney, and directors of the Columbian-Sterling Company, though expected for some time, created a sensation in the publishing world, especially in view of the fact that a representative of the United States district attorney's office stated to Commissioner Shields that the alleged frauds will total more than $2,000,000.

Other arrests are said to be im-minent in the case, though it as de-nied today that the warrants yet have nied today that the warrants yet have been issued.

The specific charge against the prischers is that on September 1, last, they announced through the mails, for the purpose of inducing persons to buy stock, that the company was able to pay a quarterly dividend of 2½ percent out of its surplus. The postal authorities declare that this was absolutely untrue, because the company at that time was losing money, and that in place of a surplus it owed $240,000. Its receiver recently reported that the total liabilities of the Columbian-Sterling Company were $640,000 and its assets nil.

CHICAGO, Nov. 9 .- To the little "pep per box of death" in the home of Mrs Louise Vermilya, now in jail, accused of the murder of Policeman Arthur Bisonette and suspected of knowing much concerning at least seven other deaths, the police believe they have raced one more death.

Jayson Rupert, who was employed as a fireman on the Soo railroad, died January 17, 1916, thirty-six hours after dining at Mrs. Vermilya's home.

Arthur Denton, a Soo line fireman, who told the police of Ruppert's death, discovered many circumstances very similar to the deaths of Bisonette and Richard T. Smith, the Illinois Central conductor. Ruppert died as Smith was supposed to have died—of "acute gastritis." Undertaker C. C. Boysen was at the hospital demanding his body fifteen minutes after his death.

Ruppert was a close friend of Mrs. Vermilya, and had been visiting the Vermilya, and had been visiting the Vermilya home just before his fatal illness. The fireman is said by his friends to have made many clandestine calls at the woman's home. Denton also told the police of a dispute between officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Undertaker Boysen over the bill for Rupert's burial. Jayson Rupert, who was employed as
